64th Season Announcement 2022 - 2023

For nearly sixty-five years the Rocky River Chamber Music Society has presented concerts to loyal, informed, and generous audiences that keep coming back to our concerts year after year. And all that in spite of the pandemic! This tells us there is a real place for an organization like ours that is run by volunteers and presents outstanding concerts with no admission charge. Of course presenting superior concerts incurs significant expenses, which means we must rely on donations. Thankfully, our audiences have never let us down. Donations may be made directly on our website (www.rrcms.org), by regular mail, or at the concerts. We are celebrating our 64th season with one quartet, a brass quintet, a trio, a duo, and an octet! Here is a peek at next season's exciting programs:

Balourdet String Quartet-- Monday, September 26, 2022, 7:30 pm

A young and exciting string quartet residing in Boston that has won top prizes at the Fishoff, Artists' Guild Elmalch, and the Premio Paolo Borciani Competitions.

Emerald Brass Quintet-- Monday, November 14, 2022, 7:30 pm

A star studded ensemble of colleagues from around the United States who formed at the Eastman School of Music. The Emerald has gained recognition as dynamic and virtuosic performers.

Butler Piano Trio-- Monday, February 6, 2023, 7:30 pm

Formed in 2011, a brilliant trio with violin, cello, and piano from the University of Texas that has earned acclaim for its dynamic, articulate, and impressive performances.

New Morse Code-- Monday, April 3, 2023 7:30 pm

An unusual and alluring combination of cello and percussion that shows how their extraordinary depth and skill can create beautiful music.

All Stravinsky!-- Monday, May 8, 2023, 7:30 pm

Rocky River Chamber Music Society board members Amanda Bekeny and Daniel McKelway have gathered friends from The Cleveland Orchestra and the freelance community for an amazing evening of music including the "Octet for Winds" and "L'Histoire du Soldat."
